Some of the most beautiful and abundant elk habitat is on the plateau of Colorado's Flat Tops Wilderness. This outfitter concentrates on bringing hunters clear to the top. The un-guided hunt will take place at 10,000 to 11,000 feet elevation. It takes from 3 ½ to 5 hours on horse back, but it's worth it because the harvest opportunities increase. There is only one wall tent for both sleeping and cooking/dining. There is a limit of 3 hunters per economy drop camp. The tent comes complete with a cot, pad and wool blanket for each person. A complete kitchen and 2 burner propane stove, lantern and a table with one chair for each hunter is also provided. Firewood for the first night is also provided.
