November 9-15, 2009

This outfitter is located in the southeast corner of British Columbia, Canada. It is nestled on sloping plains facing the Purcell Mountains to the west, and the Rockies to the north and east. With mild winters and more sunshine hours than any other area in B.C., they have become a favored spot and staging ground for backcountry mountain hunting excursions throughout the seasons. Take advantage of some great late-season hunting for whitetail and mule deer, timed perfectly with the rut to find the big bucks that frequent this area. Use horses to access the high country and enjoy lots of good action. Expect to find heavy horn deer during this trip. They know how tiring a long day of hunting can be, which is why all our camps are equipped with the luxuries you need — good cooking, thick mattresses a warm stove and more. Whether at either of the two main camps or any of the spike camps, comfort is important to them.

The 5% GST is included in the trip price. Total for both tags for whitetail and mule deer are an additional $850.
